

Clophill Post Office® is changing

Earlier this year we asked your views on some key areas about our plans to change your Post Office to one of our new-look local branches. We received 35 submissions about the possible changes. While it's not possible to respond to each individual issue raised, a summary of the main comments we received is provided below.

We've now finalised our plans and your new-look Post Office is scheduled to open at the current location on Thursday 17 January 2019 at 13:00.

We asked why you use this Post Office and what you like about it.

You said.....that you use this branch as it is conveniently located, and the staff are friendly and helpful. You also said that you use this branch for a wide variety of services.

You'll be glad to know that most of what you like about your branch won't change. Your new operator is keen to provide the same high standard of service as is currently received. The new style local format is a simpler operating model than a traditional style Post Office. It is designed to handle products and services that are automated, meaning that customers can be served quickly and efficiently and transactions processed more quickly.

We asked for your comments about the changes to the branch.

You said.....that you welcome the changes to the branch. Some of you said you are concerned about security when carrying out transactions at an open plan counter. You also said you are worried about having the Post Office and retail counters together may increase queuing times. Lastly you are concerned that there will be an insufficient number of staff serving.

We fully recognise people can be wary of change and we are pleased that you took the time to let us know what's concerning you. Although the local style format is a different way of providing a service, security or privacy is not compromised. As with any other branch we have robust security procedures in place and anyone handling Post Office transactions including new staff will be fully trained on all operational and service issues including customer privacy. I would also like to reassure you that when we are talking with the operator we work with them to make sure there is an appropriate level of privacy at the Post Office till point and discuss issues like queue layout and asking customers to stand back from the counter whilst they are waiting for service.

There will be a single queue system in place and staff trained on Post Office transactions will always be available. During identified busy periods and to help manage waiting times, the operator will manage the staffing levels at retail and Post Office service points appropriately. The operator is responsible for making sure that there is sufficient staff available to meet customer needs.

Lastly, your new Post Office counter will be located at the end of the retail till, on the right hand side of the shop as you enter.

We asked for your comments about any changes to the opening hours.

You said.....you welcomed the longer opening hours. However, some of you said that the changes to the opening hours are unnecessary.

We already have over 2000 branches offering Post Office services in this new way. Feedback from customer satisfaction surveys supports that customers particularly like the longer opening hours the local style branch offers. This means that customers can choose to visit their local branch at times that suit their lifestyle better, whether this be first thing in the morning, during the day, or later in the evening, which also helps to spread customer visits throughout the day.

We asked if you have any comments about the change to the range of Post Office products and services at the branch if the change goes ahead.

You said.....that the changes are minimal and will not affect you. Some of you said that you hope the previous products and services offered will be retained.

I am pleased to let you know that the range of products will remain the same at the new branch and customers will still be able to transact manual banking and Royal Mail and Parcelforce Worldwide International Parcel Services. Additionally cheques will continue to be accepted as a method of payment.

During the closure period you can continue to access Post Office services at Ampthill Post Office and Kempston Post Office.

We asked for your comments about the potential closure period during the refurbishment or access to other branches in the area.

You said.....that you would like for the branch to reopen as soon as possible. You also said that the extended closure period has been very inconvenient.

As you may be aware the branch closed in February 2018, in order to carry out extensive building work to the premises. We recognise that the temporary closure of this branch has been inconvenient, for which we apologise. However we've been working with the operator to keep the closure to a minimum and we will ensure that the nearest alternative branches are displayed and publicised.

We'd like to thank all those who took the opportunity to let us have their views about the changes.
